“Replica” Omega SpeedMaster

While Rolex watches are the most often copied, Omegas are fast gaining in popularity among the replica crowd. The Omega SeaMaster (especially the James Bond version) is probably the most counterfeited Omega. The SpeedMaster is not seen as often in fake form, and when it is, the chronograph functions don't work OR the movement is quartz (with working chronograph features) instead of mechanical as it should be.

This watch came to my attention while I was looking for a genuine SpeedMaster for a client. It really surprised me in that not only do the chronograph functions work, but it has a manual wind movement, just like the real Omega SpeedMaster “Moon Watch.” The exhibition case back gives this watch away as a fake, but the functionality and overall quality are quite good. The movement looks to me to be a Lemania, or a good copy of one. The accuracy of the watch is good, running about 9 seconds per day fast on the tester.

Watches like this scare me - the quality of the components and workmanship are good, and if someone wasn't well versed in Omegas, I can see how easily this watch could be misrepresented as the real thing.
